

The Catskill Fly Fishing Center and Museum

Arts of the Angler Show Returns to Danbury, November 15 & 16, 2008

For Immediate Release Contact: CFFCM 845-439-4810, flyfish@catskill.net

September 26, 2008

Livingston Manor, NY. The Catskill Fly Fishing Center and Museum will be hosting the second annual Arts of the Angler Show in Danbury, CT on November 15 & 16. This years event will be held at the Danbury Plaza Hotel (formerly Sheraton) at Exit 2 on Route I- 84 in Danbury, CT. This urbane fly fishing show provides all the features of large show but in an intimate atmosphere allowing attendees, vendors, fly tyers and program presenters to exchange ideas and information.

Attendees will once again find the most qualified and professional fly fishing personalities in the USA providing seminars and demonstrations including: Keith Fulsher, Fran Verdoliva, Kathy Scott, David Brandt, Jay 'Fishy' Fullum, Bob Mead, Mike Longuil, David Van Burgel, Paul Rossman, Bruce Marino, Jerry Stercho, and Jack Pangburn. Over 40 top notch fly tyers and the Catskill Fly Tying Guild will be tying flies non stop over the weekend, David Van Burgel will be planning cane and katch Scott will be furling leaders. A select group of vendors will be on hand with the highest quality of fly tying materials, contemporary and highly collectible fly fishing equipment and accessories, bamboo rods, art and books. Fly tying classes will be available with David Brandt, Bob Mead, Mike Martinek, and others.

Saturday at 7PM, the show features a live auction of collectible and desirable fly fishing equipment and accessories. A special dinner will be available prior to the auction.

Sunday, Keith Fulsher, the most respected authority on Hair Wing Atlantic Salmon Flies will release his new book at noon.

For more information, call 845-439-4810 and for latest update and show particulars visit the website www.cffcm.net